

The False Light.

"A wreck! a wreck!" is the most tremendous sound to a wretched mariner in the howling midnight tempest. But strange as it may seem, there have lived men, even in this country, who have made it their profession to lure vessels to destruction in stormy weather, for the sake of plundering the wrecks. One of the means resorted to for such a guilty purpose, was that of attaching a lantern to a horse, and leading the animal about the shore, to deceive seamen into the belief that they were approaching a vessel underrail. The atrocious expedient was often successful. The devoted crew dreamed not of their danger until warned of it, too late, by the moaning breakers that burst upon them from the shore; and the vessel speedily became the prey of ruthless barbarians, who to secure themselves immunity in their plunder, often murdered those who escaped drowning.

In a small hovel, on the craggy shore of a deep and dangerous bay, dwelt one of these wretches whose name was Terloggan—an old hardened desperado, who united in himself the fisherman, the smuggler and the wrecker, but the last was his favorite occupation; and such was the confidence of his companion in his experience and capacity, that he was usually appointed their leader, and rarely failed in his office. His wife, too, encouraged him, and not unfrequently aided him in his iniquitous exploits. Disgusted with the wickedness of his parents, their only son left his home in early life, and sought to obtain an honorable subsistence as the mate of a West India trader.

It was a period when a long and profitless summer and autumn had nearly passed away, that Terloggan, like the vulture, ever watchful of his prey, was more than usually observant of the signs of the heavens; nor was any one more capable than himself of discovering the distant indication of a tempest. Nature had for several months worn a placid and most encouraging aspect. The soft and azure sky seemed to rest upon the transparent sea and the slowly extending waves swept with a slow murmuring along the shining sand of the deep bay, with a wild and monotonous splashing that seemed to strike like the voice of a prophecy upon the ear. No more hateful were the glorious beams of the orb of day to the fallen Lucifer, than was this quiescent state of nature to the dark mind of Terloggan. In his impatience he cursed the protracted season of tranquility, and hailed the approaching period of storms as more congenial not only to the gloomy temper of his soul, but to his interests. At length he saw with a smile of savage satisfaction the sun sink in angry red beneath the dim and cloudy horizon; heard with exultation the hollow murmuring of the winds and beheld the blackening waves rising in fury, and lashing the lofty rocks with their ascending spray. As the night advanced in chaotic darkness, the horrors of the tempest increased, and long and loud blast of the contending elements rung upon the ear like the death knell of a departing soul. "Now is the time," ejaculated the old hag his wife, "go thy ways upon the cliffs; there's death in the winds." Terloggan speedily equipped himself, and ascended a steep promontory at the entrance of the bay. The usual expedient was resorted to; and he soon observed a light at sea, as in answer to his signal.

His prey seemed in his grasp. The light evidently approached nearer; and before an hour had elapsed, the white close reefed sails of the vessel could be dimly discovered through the darkness, and the appalling cry of the seamen at the discovery of their danger distinctly heard. Signal guns of distress were immediately fired, and the commands, "All hands on deck!" and "About ship!" were vociferated in wild despair. Every exertion was made to steer the vessel from shore, but the redeeming moment was completely embayed, and neither strength nor skill was of any avail in averting her impending fate. In a few minutes a tremendous crash announced the horrid catastrophe, and the last flashing signal revealed for a moment a scene too horrible to be described. The stranded vessel, hurled repeatedly against the jagged rocks soon parted, the waves dashing over her hull with resistless fury, bearing to the shore the scattered cargo, broken pieces of wreck, and the tattered rigging; while the mingled shrieks of the drowning blended with the roar of the conflicting elements, rose upon the ear like the despairing cries of an army of dying Titans.

There was one, however, in whose eyes such a scene was joyous—in whose ears such sounds were melody—and that being was Terloggan. He waited impatiently until the storm had somewhat abated, and when silence began to indicate that the work of death was well nigh over, he descended the well known cliffs to dart upon his prey. Unmoved by the horrid spectacle, (for the moon had broken from the clouds by which she had before been concealed,) he stood awhile gazing upon the scene of desolation around him as if at a loss where first to begin his work of rapine. But to his surprise and momentary dismay, there was yet one living soul on board, who should he survive, would interpose between him and his hard-earned booty, and who was loudly supplicating his assistance. To despatch the unhappy creature in his exhausted and helpless condition, was a resolution no sooner formed than executed. While he was appearing to aid his escape from the jaws of death, one stroke of his hanger laid him a livid and mutilated corpse upon the sand before him. Terloggan then rifled the pockets of his victim, took a ring from his finger, and laden with the most portable articles of plunder, retraced his footstep to the hut.

"What luck!" exclaimed his hideously helpmate as he crossed the threshold of the door.

"Never better!" rejoined Terloggan, pointing to his booty. He then described the success of his stratagem, without even concealing the particulars of the murder; after which he displayed some pieces of gold coin, and the ring which he had taken from the stranger. "Give me the light," said the hoary villain. The hag obeyed. Be no sooner had he examined the ring, than he recognised its form and certain marks upon it. His countenance changed, and with a groan of agony, he quickly handed it to his wife. She knew too well from whose hand it had been taken, and after glancing at it for a moment, yelled out with supernatural energy—Oh, my

OXFORD DEMOCRAT.

PARIS, JANUARY 7, 1845.

HON. GEORGE EVANS.—The Report that Mr. Evans, intends to quit the Senate and enter upon the practice of Law in New York, receives some credence from his friends in this State. The Bangor Courier says that "it may not be fully settled that he will immediately leave the Senate, yet, we have no doubt it is his desire."

"Should he remain, it will unquestionably be at the sacrifice of his personal feelings and his pecuniary interest." It says further that it will be a great loss to the Country, to have Mr. Evans leave the Senate, especially as his place will in no way be as well filled by any man likely to be chosen from this State."

We enter our entire dissent to all such talk as this in relation to Mr. Evans. If we had never seen Mr. Evans, or heard him, but merely read his speeches on various subjects, we might in some respects think with the Courier. But having seen and heard him, we do not believe he intends to leave the Senate, while he can remain there; nor do we believe that it would be for his personal interests to do so. And as to his place not being filled with as good a man so far as talents and capacity is concerned we have many gentlemen, in our ranks who would be more than his equal after having had the same opportunity; and in moral worth, they would be far his superior.

Texas Question in Missouri. Resolutions favorable to the immediate Annexation of Texas, have been passed by a caucus of the Democratic members of the Legislative. They have been introduced into the Senate and House, and at the last accounts were undergoing discussion.

The purport of these resolutions is, 1st. That Annexation has been demanded by the people.—2nd. That Texas is Independent and Free.—3rd. That She has the ability to maintain her Independence. 4th. That She has a right to transfer her territory to any other power. 5th. That the people of Missouri prefer that the Territory should be annexed, without regard to Slavery—a question which should be settled by the people, who may now, or hereafter occupy the territory.

6th. That the Annexation of Texas is essential to the interests of the United States. 7th. That our Senators, in Congress be instructed, and our Representatives requested to use all honorable efforts to secure the objects of the above resolutions.

These Resolutions are interesting, in as much as they show the feeling in the State and differ from the opinions of Mr. Benton. Mr. Benton, it seems, by this stands nearly alone in his position on this subject. Whether these will pass both houses of the Legislature is not settled; but there can be no doubt that they will. They passed the Senate—some of the Whigs voting for the 3rd, and 5th. Resolutions. Should they pass Mr. Benton, as a Democrat will deem it his duty to obey instructions or resign.

IMPROVING THE KENNEBEC.—The citizens of Augusta, met at the Court House last Saturday week to consult upon the expediency of removing obstructions in the Kennebec River, from Gardner to that place. The Rev. Mr. Drew, was chairman of the meeting. Many citizens were present, and manifested a strong desire to see these obstructions removed. They have resolved to wait no longer for the aid of the General Government; but to rely entirely on private interest, and enterprise. A large committee consisting of the most energetic, business men of Augusta was chosen to examine the obstructions and ascertain the probable cost of removing them, to such an extent as to admit the passage of vessels drawing ten feet of water, and suggest the best manner of providing funds to carry out the design. This enterprise accomplished it would be of great value to the business of Augusta, and the vicinity above. We wish it success.

Dr. Hitchcock's Teeth Almanac.—We thank the Doctor for the two copies of his Almanac, which he sent to us last week. It contains much useful information in a small space; and it should be purchased and read by every person who has Teeth, and is anxious to preserve them. We recommend his Almanac to the Booksellers and the public.

A member of the Hutcherson family, one of Congress.—The news from Congress is unimportant. The members seem to be introducing Resolutions on various subjects, and preparing to do business; but as the Session ends on the fourth of March next, it is doubtful whether much is done. One third of the Session has passed, and comparatively nothing has been accomplished. It seems useless to publish proceedings of Congress, or of the Legislature where they have reference only to business in progress, or in an unfinished state. We do not therefore deem it interesting, or expedient, to lay before our readers dry, tedious, monotonous and oft repeated accounts of proceedings which in our opinion are unprofitable. But when a thing has been done, we will give due notice.

The Whigs are parising Congress because the House of Representatives has passed the Bill to have the Presidential Election held on the same day throughout the States. The Whig Senate has once refused the Bill a passage. We hope they intend to do better in future.

On Whig Authority we learn that President Tyler, has nominated Col. A. J. Stone, to Collector of Bath, and Benj. S. Wiggin, of Bangor Collector of Belfast. We doubt it.

Beware of $1 Bills on the Shawmut Bank Boston, which have been changed to $5. The words "One Dollar," have been effaced from the Bill, and "Five Dollars" inserted in their stead. It was done by a chemical process and can easily be detected by holding the Bill up to the light. So says the Boston Post.

Mr. Townsend on taking the chair addressed the Senate as follows:

SENATORS.—Permit me, before entering upon the public duties assigned us, to tender to you my hearty thanks for the partiality accorded to me in being selected to the honorable and responsible task of presiding over your deliberations.

Looking back to the eminent qualifications that have commanded my predecessors to this place; I cannot but distrust my own ability to preside at your board in a manner satisfactory to my own judgment and wishes.

Having had but little acquaintance with legislative business and the rules of parliamentary law, I rely much upon the kindness, assistance and forbearance of my associates and co-laborers in the field assigned us, for a successful and speedy termination of our labors. Feeling well assured of the generous aid which your better judgment and experience will furnish to the prompt and patriotic accomplishment of the public trusts temporarily committed to our care, I accept with feelings of gratitude and pleasure the office assigned me, pledging, without partiality, my best judgment and efforts in assisting your labors.

Looking to the Creator of the Universe as the source of all wisdom, light and truth, to strengthen our good purposes, let us each lay aside every interest and consideration which has not for its great and leading motive the advancement, prosperity and happiness of the people of Maine.

TAKEN AT THEIR WORD.

The Whigs have labored long to convince their friends that it was necessary to form a party in the country to oppose foreigners. The honest men in their party have taken them at their word, and have commenced the work of reform by voting against the British whigs of Boston, and have actually twice defeated these alien enemies of the people in their attempt to elect a Mayor and other city officers in that strong hold of "foreign influence."—All right—Age.

The Washington correspondent of the New York True Sun, writes—Mr. Evans, it is said, is going to retire from the Senate and settle in New York, for the purpose of obtaining a wider field for the practice of his profession.

Gov. Steele, of New Hampshire has vetoed a bill to incorporate the trustees of donations to the Protestant Episcopal Church, on the ground that it gave partial and special privileges. The vote upon the passage of the bill, when returned to the house, was nays 150, yeas 20.

Texas.—By the Galveston News of the third inst, we learn that two gentlemen, a Mr. Coleman and a Mr. Vail, left Austin for San Antonio a few weeks since. Their horses were found some time after on the prairies dead, and the two persons named above are supposed to have been murdered.

THE ANNEXATION OF TEXAS.

We call upon the good people of this Commonwealth of Massachusetts to keep a firm and steady eye upon the movements of the National Administration, in regard to this infernal project of the Annexation of Texas to this Union. No political measure was ever brought before the People, that began to compare in magnitude or in turpitude, with this. It involves the whole broad question of the permanence of our Government, and the continuance of our Union. We must not lose sight of it, for one moment. We must be ready to ACT—promptly, fearlessly, effectually—when the time comes, if come it ever does. MASSACHUSETTS CAN NOT—SHE MUST NOT—SHE WILL NOT—SUBMIT TO THE ANNEXATION OF TEXAS TO THESE UNITED STATES.'

We cut the above extract from the Boston Atlas. There is really a great deal of bravery in it—almost equal to South Carolina nullification or Hartford Convention federalism. Massachusetts cannot—she must not—she will not—submit to the annexation of Texas to these United States! Brave words those, truly. But, Mr. Atlas, what will our staid old mother Massachusetts do if Texas is annexed? Will she spank somebody? Age.

'Pete, I wants to ask you a Columbian.'

'Succed nigga!'

'Well, why is a quilt like a railroad? Does you give it up?'

'Well I does.'

'Case there's sleepers under it. Yah, Yah, what ignorant colored individual you is.'

The factory girls of Lowell talk of establishing a large factory to be worked by themselves, and of which they shall be the joint stock proprietors; so says the N. Y. Post.

BAD.—A Buffalo paper says that a woman of that city was sentenced last week, by the recorder's court, to Sing Sing, for two years, for stealing cloth for an 'assension robe.'

In consequence of Queen Victoria not having registered the birth of her last son for 6 weeks, she was compelled by law to pay a fine of 75 £ for the omission.

You SHALL BELIEVE.—Believe it not an act of the will. Sufficient evidence compels our assent; so listen, dear reader, and I will convince you that Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is far the best remedy for diseases of our climate to be found in this country. It is formed by chemical extracts from vegetables (the Wild Cherry, Vine, &c.) that nature seems to have placed here as powerful antidotes to all affections of the Lungs and Liver that our ever changing climate induces. After the skill of our greatest physicians was exhausted, it has cured Asthma in various cases. It cured a lady of an incipient Consumption, whose family had all died of the same disease. Refer to Isaac Platt, Esq., Editor of the "Poughkeepsie Eagle." Thomas Coopers, Herkfield, N. J., testifies, under oath, that it cured him of internal Abscess, violent Cough, rattling of Heart, &c., after he was deemed beyond hope. We could refer to plenty of such instances of its惊人的 power. The doubting are invited to inquire of individuals and cases that we allude to, and we publish no statements that will not bear the most rigid scrutiny.

See Ad. of Dr. Wistar's Balsam in another column of this paper.

These Pills have long been without a successful rival in Germany, and throughout Europe, and many years in various parts of the United States, by the most eminent Physicians, as a Family Medicine.

This Pill is composed of extracts from nine parts of the Vegetable kingdom. They are warranted safe in their operation and effects. They are simple in their composition, and in their effects, and are not only purgative in their results. They have long received the most flattering commendation from the Medical Faculty, and Dr. Matt, and Dr. Guerne, of New York; Dr. Dickinson, Dr. Hassell, and Dr. Landen, of Dutchess county; and Hon. PARR'S LIFE PILLS.

THOMAS PARR.
Born 1435—Died 1635.

THIS fine Herbal Medicine has scarcely been introduced into the United States six months, yet it has met with great success in all cases of obstruction in the bowels, in chronic diseases of the liver, and other derangements and diseases proceeding from a diseased state of that organ; such as loss of appetite, loss of the stomach, constiveness, dizziness and headache, Jaundice, Asthma, Dropsey, Rheumatism, Indigestion, Diarrhoea, Faintness, and sticking in the stomach, eruptions on the face and neck, and are an excellent purifier of the blood. When these Pills are taken in connection with the Vegetable Pills and anti-acid preparation they will remove most inveterate chronic diseases, even in cases where mercury has been unsuccessfully administered.

such rapidity as to exceed their most sanguine expectations.

The public are now beginning to understand and appreciate the superior efficacy of this mild medicine to the powerful purgatives that have been hitherto sold them in the shape of pills which may give relief for a short time but always at the expense of the system, by enfeebling and robbing it of its ability to recover again its complete power. On the contrary, Parr's Life Pill, by its specific action, purifies all obstructions in the intestinal canal, purifying the blood, strengthening the system, and eradicating all and disorders of the stomach; they are so composed as to be slow in their operation, but sure and certain, and remove all obstructions upon the stomach and bowels, one or two pills sufficiently purify the system, and in their operation they not only purge and cleanse the stomach and bowels from every impurity; but strengthen and give new life and vigor to the digestive organs, &c.

VEGETABLE BILLIOUS PILLS.

The reputation of these Pills stands unrivaled for the cure of nervous or Bilious headache, constiveness, indigestion, dyspepsia, and all disorders of the stomach; they are so composed as to be slow in their operation, but sure and certain, and remove all obstructions upon the stomach and bowels, one or two pills sufficiently purify the system, and in their operation they not only purge and cleanse the stomach and bowels from every impurity; but strengthen and give new life and vigor to the digestive organs, &c.

ANTI-ACID AND CARMINATIVE PREPARATION.

This medicine has been successfully used for scurvy and the eruption of the skin, proceeding from colds, asthma, chronic catarrh, influenza and inflammation of the lungs or pleura, and chronic affections of the liver, which frequently produce concrements.

It is decidedly the best medicine ever discovered for the cure of scurvy, and is equally efficacious in removing the eruptions of the skin, the effects of the scurvy, and the attendant debilities.

It is also a delicate habit of body who would particularly recommend this medicine; they will find it agreeable to take, soothing to the system, and certain in removing the sour and bad humor from the body—in the spring the torpid and acrimonious fluids that have lain dormant in the body during the winter, but are again brought into activity, will be speedily removed by taking Parr's Life Pill every night, before going to bed, for two or three weeks. The properties have already given us excellent proofs of its efficacy, and Parr's Life Pill is highly recommended for the removal of chronic cases of colds, constipation of the bowels, dyspepsia, liver complaints, debility and complaints incidental to scurvy.

This disease is known by the names of abscesses, languor, ague, leprosy, asthmas, liver complaints, low spirits, bilious complaints, languor, blisters on the skin, measles, bowel complaints, nervous affections, cancers, pains in the breast, cholera morbus, palpitations, constipation of bowels, paroxysms, consumption, phlegm, convulsions, fevers, debility, &c., &c. Paintings, sore throats, feverish fits, &c., &c. Strangury, female irregularities, stricture of the urethra, gout, tumors, giddiness, venereal affections of all kinds, glandular swellings, headache, whooping coughs, heart burn, white swellings, hoarseness, worms of every kind, inflammation, wens, indigestion, weakness from whatever causes, juncles, &c., have all been cured, simply by the use of PARR'S LIFE PILLS, thus showing that what has been considered different disorders, and requiring different treatment, can all be remedied in the same way, and by the same universal treatment. PARR'S LIFE PILLS, a strong powerful medicine for curing diseases, you are pure and harmless as new milk, and may be administered with confidence to the invalid, however weakly from ill health, who will soon enjoy those delightful symptoms of a return to strong health, viz: good appetite, sound sleep, and an increase of animal spirits.

To produce a medicine so benign and mild in its operation and effects, and yet effectual in removing all the various diseases of however long standing, is in the part of Old Parr deep research, and through knowledge of his subjects, he has been the instrument of restoring the dying lost to the world, feel cool, when they make the assertion, that none need despair, that if only a fair trial be given, the result will be restoration to health and happiness.

"And former PARR'S are blessed with honored days."

F. BROWN'S

Sarsaparilla and Tomato Bitters.

THIS is no quack nostrum; it is prepared from the best materials, and the receipt has been examined and approved by many of the first Physicians in the United States.

The true means of preserving the Health and Strength is to purify the blood and correct the unhealthy state of the Bowels. For this purpose we recommend the Sarsaparilla and Tomato Bitters.

The component ingredient of these Bitters is a secret. They are equal to any very strong preparation of the celebrated extract of Spanish Sarsaparilla and the extract of Tomatoes, with the addition of some of the most popular vegetable medicines of the country abroad.

This is the first time the medical virtues of SARSAPARILLA and TOMATOES have been combined; and the receipt has met the most sanguine expectations of the medical profession.

The whole vegetable kingdom does not contain two substances so admirably adapted to the human system, and vigorous in their properties when used in sufficient quantity, and yet are so mild in their operation that they may be given to persons who are most delicate with perfect safety. They are also very agreeable to the taste.

These excellent Bitters will be found a certain cure in all cases of Indigestion or Diarrhoea, Jaundice, Loss of Appetite, General Debility, Faintness and Stinking of the Stomach, Loss of spirits, Constiveness, Detention of Urine, Distress to the Head, Pain in the Liver, &c., &c. Headache, Weakness, Dizziness, Convulsions on the Face and Neck, Italic Fever, Night Sweats, Nervousness, and Skin Headache, Asthma of Stomach, Brightness of Eyes, &c., &c.

They restore the action of the stomach, increase the quantity of the blood, and impart to the watery emaciated system of the invalid the vigor and glow of true health.

These Bitters are warranted to be a purely Vegetable compound—and mark this, they can never do the least injury in any case whatever.

They are kept by many Agents as a FAMILY MEDICINE—and have been given to the YOUNGEST CHILDREN, on account of the safety of their operation, with excellent effect.

The following are a few of the many new recommendations which have been sent to the proprietor of BROWN'S SARASAPIRILLA and TOMATO BITTERS without a signature.

REMEMBER—Always ask for Brown's, as there are counterfeits.

My former agent in Portland, Me., still continues to recommend Brown's Sarsaparilla and Tomato Bitters to the following—

Mr. T. R. HAYES, lately one of the firm of T. B. HAYES & CO., Boston, Mass., and formerly agent for Brown's Sarsaparilla and Tomato Bitters, says he has had much experience with them and recommends them to all; he says no medicine ever sold so rapidly, or was ever liked half as well; he knows of many that have been cured or greatly relieved by its use.

Mr. E. MASON, after having the Agency for Portland a few days, writes me the following—

Mr. Brown—Sir, please send me five dozen Sarsaparilla and Tomato Bitters by the first mail. I have sold off the last lot. Our customers recommended them very highly, and they are recommended by some of our first physicians.
